Dyer offered a proposition that a y public official who accepts a railroad pass be impeached and become ineligible for office. This was received with cries of "Pooh!" An effort was made to get a vote on the report favoring prohibition, but it was postponed until Monday. It has apparently no chance of passing in any shape. It is understood the committee on municipal indebtedness has agreed to report a clause forbidding a debt of over 5 per cent. of the assessed value, except in case of two-thirds of the voters asking for it, when it can be increased to 10 per cent. It is thought this will have the effect to greatly increase the assessment of properties in localities needing money for public purposes.

This is done to force the convention to business. done to force the convention to business. The event of the day was the consideration of a resolution providing for a single body of the legislature. The leading champion of the one-house idea was Stevens, of Ransom, who delivered a carefully prepared speech. Rev. Ezra Turner, of Baltimore, and Parsons, of Morton, also spoke in favor of the one-house plan. The question was discussed in committee of the whole, but the committee arose without reaching a vote.

A COMPLETE CONSTITUTION.

The constitutional convention has been given a surprise by the presentation of a complete constitution which will be considered during the present week. This constitution has been prepared with great care and after a consultation with some of the best constitutional lawyers. In many respects it is identical with the articles already introduced. It is a compliation of the best provisions of the constitutions of several different states and that of the United States fitted to North Dakota. With regard to taxation it has specific provisions embodying the Wisconsin constitutional provision, on this subject, which provides that the rate of taxation shall be uniform upon property made subject to put taxation by the legislature, and leaving the power of regulation of the method of taxation with the legislature. It also provides that the property of non-residents is shall be taxed at no higher rate than that of residents. It also gives the legislature the forward to fix the passenger and fraight. No act of the legislature shall take effect within sixty days after adjournment unless pecially provided in the preamble or body of the act.

As is the act.

The above constitution is the subject of much discussion. All who read it admit the convention would not make any ser ous mistake in adopting it; but it is not in harmony with some of the hobbies and must therefore undergo amendment and demoralization, if not be entirely laid aside for a new-made document.

Towns and cities are not permitted to incur Henry Hoffman, near here, yesterday any indebtedness above their revenue, but can co-operate with capital in making improvements. Some days ago the committee on elections and suffrage made a majority and minority report, the former by the republicans and the latter by the democrats. The minority would prevent the voting of Mormons, while it would also allow the legislature to make other limits and terms for preventing the voting of persons holding a higher allegiance to organizations they deem above that of the state and United States government. The minority report is framed so as to cut off legislation, and in the eyes of the anti-Mormons leaves a loop hole through which the Mormons may crawl in and secure control. A proposition to take these reports up in committee of the whole caused filibustering, which blocked all business for some time. The matter finally was settled by an agreement to consider these reports Thursday. Hundreds of Mormons withdrew from the church last fall to evade the test oath and voted, and this makes the anti-Mormons anxious to give the legislature power to make such limits and restrictions that the Mormon church, now colonizing a portion of Idaho, may not participate in politics. This question has caused the chief trouble during the convention. Delegate Carter is impressed with the idea that in the nature of things these Indians cannot be self supporting. He visited the agency on issue day and the disposition of the Indians was easily perceptible. The delegate had a buckboard ride which he will not forget, as it lasted from 5 a. m. to 12:30 at night. During the day he passed an Indian train of about thirty wagons. When they had got to about the fifteenth wagon they heard the report of a gun and the whiz of a bullet oso to their ears. Turning around they saw an Indian stooping down, hiding. He rose up and ran with the gun in his hand to the head of the train and disappeared. The shot was too close for pleasure, if a Russian assassination was not intended.

The New Mexico Victims Notorious Cases Who Were Hurried Over the River by Cowbeys.

DENVER, July 22.-A Cheyenne, Wyo., special says a telegram received to-day announces the lynching at Sweetwater of Jim Averill and a woman who lived with him as his wife. Averill was postmaster at Sweetwater, which consists simply of a station contiguous to a number of ranches. Averill drifted into the Sweetwater country four years ago and at once took up a government claim. He was soon joined by running the rapids. He was thrown into a whirlpool and was unable to get out of it, while another man in the boat was thrown in the current, carried 600 feet and landed. All the other boats of the expedition went through the rapids safe. My boat reached the point where Brown was thrown a half minute after he sank for the last time. Five days after, while working our way down, another boat was driven against a cliff and in pushing it off was capsized and two boatmen, Peter M. Hasborough and Henry C. Richards, were both drowned before assistance reached them. We cannot recover any of the bodies.

Cow Boys' Vengeance. Kansas City, July 22.—A special from Albuquerque, N. M., says: Last Saturday three cattle and horse thieves, members of the notorious band of Mexicans who have committed many depredations near this city, were captured by Deputy Sheriff Lowens and posse and imprisoned in a vacant house near Kelly, N. M. Before the capture the thieves engaged the posse in battle, during which their leader and Deputy Lowens were shot dead. Last night a party of cowboys proceeded to the house where the remaining two thieves were imprisoned, overpowered the guard and hanged the prisoners after riddling their bodies with bullets.

F. I. Whitney, general passenger and ticket agent, has issued the following circular, dated at Paul, which will prove interesting reading for those interested:

To connecting lines and ticket agents. The determination to make a new deal has been come to from many reasons. Party considerations have swayed some; the expected provisions of the new constitution in regard to county officers have governed others, but most of the delegates are convinced that the county officers could not retain their positions unless they were expressly appointed for the remainder of their terms by the new constitutions. Great a the power invested in the convention, it is held that the delegates could not consistently with popular rights, assume such responsibility. The act might endanger the adoption of the new constitution and might cloud the titles of the incumbents.

The people of Montana should therefore prepare at once for the election of county officers. They should not wait for the completion of the constitution, for the time will be none too long to select efficient officers who will serve the state as well as the county efficiently, for in some circumstances double duties will devolve upon the following and returning via this line, will prove interesting reading for those interesting interesting interesting reading for those interesting reading for those interesting reading now, there seems to be a majority of the members of the Northern Pacific board opposed to declaring any dividend until some of the enormous floating debts has been paid off."
